Dear Hiring Manager,

I hope this message finds you well. I'm writing to express my interest in finding a relevant position within your Record to Report (R2R) department. With a diverse background in financial reporting, operations analytics and stakeholder management, I believe I bring a solid mix of hands on experience and adaptability that aligns well with this role.

I began my career in finance over a decade ago with Steria India Ltd, where I managed the end to end R2R process from financial data analysis to ERP migrations and compliance. My work spanned high volume reconciliations, automation of reporting tasks using Excel and Oracle tools and direct collaboration with global clients. These eight years gave me a strong foundation in structured reporting and governance.

Since 2018, I've been working with Tech Mahindra Business Services in a data driven team lead capacity for the telecom domain. While it's not a traditional finance role, it has allowed me to strengthen my analytical mindset further building dashboards, tracking KPIs like AHT, FCR, NPS etc and helping teams make better decisions using data. I've also regularly collaborated with operations and quality teams to identify process gaps and drive improvements.

What I enjoy most about my work is solving problems with data and making complex information easy to understand. Whether it's automating a report, identifying why a number is off or coaching a team to meet their targets, I genuinely find purpose in these moments. I'm now eager to bring this mindset back to a core finance environment, specifically within an R2R structure where reporting accuracy and insights are crucial.

I'm confident that my blend of R2R experience, operations reporting and data analysis tools like Excel, PowerPoint, Power BI, SQL would make me a valuable addition to your team. I'm excited about the chance to work with professionals who value continuous improvement and financial precision as much as I do.

Thank you for considering my application. I'd be happy to discuss further how I can contribute to your team and the business.

Warm regards,

Mangesh C Bodke
